MATCH PREVIEW

Austin FC beat St. Louis City SC last Sunday afternoon, marking the team's third consecutive victory and third clean sheet of the season. Austin ended the first half with the lead after Myrto Uzuni finished a low cross from Osman Bukari to net his first goal for the VERDE & Black.

Austin is currently sitting in second place in the MLS Western Conference and could climb into first if they better Vancouver's result this weekend. Austin and Portland split their last two meetings, both of which happened in Oregon. Austin beat the Timbers 1-0 last October courtesy of a Dani Pereira goal, and most recently fell against Portland on March 1 in a close and combative match.

The VERDE & Black will look to continue the momentum and extend their winning streak to four in front of their home fans.

Portland Timbers currently sit in sixth place in the Western Conference with a record of 3-1-2. Most recently, they recorded their third victory of the season last Sunday evening at home over Houston.

The win was Portland's second in-a-row. The Timbers left their mark early, with Felipe Mora finding the back of the net in the 6th minute of the match. Later in the match, Antony registered a brace following a Houston equalizer. Having also won 3-0 against Colorado Rapids on March 22, the Timbers have scored three goals in back-to-back matches. The team's attack has been helped by offseason arrival David da Costa, who has a goal and two assists in five starts.

Over the past three seasons, Austin has not been able to beat Portland at home. The VERDE & Black will be determined to end that streak on Saturday.

HEAD COACH NICO ESTÉVEZ

Nico Estévez was announced as Austin FC's second-ever Head Coach on October 25, 2024. Estévez, a bilingual native of Valencia, Spain, has MLS, LaLiga, and international coaching experience.

Estévez began his coaching career in the youth system of his hometown club Valencia CF in 2004. He took his first head coaching role with Huracán Valencia CF in the Spanish third tier in 2011. In two (2) seasons with Huracán, Estévez led the team to a record of 41 wins, 34 draws, and 13 losses. He was named the Ramón Cobo Award winner as the league's best coach in 2012-2013.

Estévez then took charge of Valencia B in 2013, and eventually served as interim manager of Valencia's first team for two (2) matches in which he led them to a 1-0 win in the Copa del Rey and in a LaLiga match against Carlo Ancelotti's Real Madrid.

In 2014, Estévez moved to the United States to join Columbus Crew SC as the team's Director of Methodology. Estévez was promoted to first team assistant coach ahead of the 2017 season. He served in the same role for the United States Men's National Team from 2019-2021 and again in fall 2024 as a member of Mauricio Pochettino's USMNT coaching staff.

Estévez became head coach of FC Dallas in December 2021 and led Dallas to playoff qualification in his first two (2) seasons there in 2022 and 2023. In his first season with Dallas in 2022, he led the team to a 20-point improvement over its previous season – the largest year-over-year point increase in the club's history – and a third-place finish in the MLS Western Conference.
