TIMBERS FALL TO AUSTIN FC 2-1 AT HOME

Portland returns home to Providence Park next Saturday

PORTLAND, Ore. – The Portland Timbers (8-10-4, 28pts) fell 2-1 to Austin FC (6-10-6, 24pts) at Providence Park after an 89th minute penalty scored by Antony to tie the visitors was answered by a goal of their own in stoppage time. The Timbers will return home next Saturday, Sep. 5, in their second of a three-game homestand against Minnesota United FC. Kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m. (Pacific).

Goal-Scoring Plays

ATX – Facundo Torres (Joseph Rosales, Besard Sabovic), 25th minute: Facundo Torres gathered a pass in the middle of the Timbers' box before finishing a left-footed shot into the bottom right corner.

POR – Antony (penalty kick), 89th minute: After earning the late spot kick, Antony stepped up and buried a penalty into the bottom right of the goal.

ATX – Oleksandr Svatok, 90+4 minute: Oleksandr Svatok found a rebound from a headed shot and tapped a bouncing ball into the middle of the net.

Notes

- The Timbers (8-10-4, 28pts) sit in eleventh place in the Western Conference following tonight's result.
- Portland has lost just one of its last five games at home, holding a record of 3-1-1 at Providence Park since July 22.
- In 11 games across all competitions since returning from the summer international window, Portland has gone unbeaten in eight (6-3-2).
- The Timbers have now scored in 12 straight matches across all competitions.
- Antony scored his third goal of the season with the 89th minute penalty.
- The penalty kick marked his fourth goal contribution this season (3G, 1A).
- Antony is one-for-one on the season from the penalty spot.
- Notably, it is the Brazilian's first regular season penalty taken and scored for the club.
- James Pantemis retains his league lead on saves for the season so far with 104.
- Portland stays at home next week, playing the middle game of a three-game homestand vs. Minnesota United FC.
