Portland qualified for the playoffs as seventh place in the Western Conference after defeating Austin FC 2-0 on the road in their regular season finale on Saturday night. Ariel Lassiter opened the scoring in the first three minutes of the match and Kristoffer Velde put the result out of reach in the 70th minute of play to earn Portland a third-straight postseason berth. The seven seed finish marks the club's highest since the 2021 season. The Timbers are 12-9-8 all time in the postseason, including three MLS Cup appearances (2015, 2018, 2021) and an MLS Cup title in 2015.

Following the conclusion of the regular season, Leagues Cup today confirmed the Timbers have qualified for Leagues Cup 2027, set to take place August 3 through September 5, 2027. Eighteen MLS clubs earned their places based on their final standings in the 2026 regular season, with the top nine teams from each conference qualifying to compete alongside all 18 LIGA MX clubs. The annual Concacaf-sanctioned competition will award three berths to the Concacaf Champions Cup, with the top three finishers qualifying for the 2028 edition.
